Format a large drive with fat32

I finally got around to swopping an old drive out of mine with a bigger one to use with some old hardware. I am annoyed with the limitation of 32Gb that windows seems to have when it comes to fat32 partitions on drives. After some time googling I found this little gem.

http://www.ridgecrop.demon.co.uk/index.htm?guiformat.htm

Hopefully this saves you some time and frustration.